

The TL Primary programme

About Teaching Leaders

We believe that middle leaders play a key role in addressing educational disadvantage. With seven years' experience in middle leadership development, we now work with 271 primary schools nationwide. We support your drive to provide an outstanding education for all your pupils and embed impact on pupil outcomes throughout our programmes, alongside an unrelenting focus on supporting your school goals.

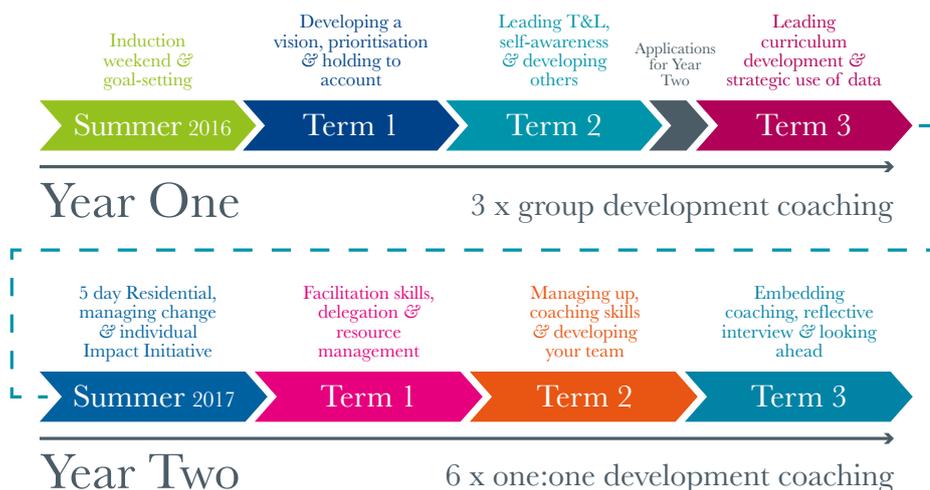

How TL Primary works

TL Primary is designed to improve pupil outcomes in reading, writing and numeracy, and close achievement gaps, by unleashing the full potential of your middle leaders. Year One supports a team of your middle leaders to collaborate on a whole-school impact project to help you achieve your School Development Goals. After an assessment process to progress to Year Two, middle leaders receive enhanced training and coaching that stretches and supports them to lead a transformative impact project across their area of responsibility. The programme starts in July 2016.

“The most enriching and empowering aspect of the programme to date has been our coaching. It is invaluable to have external and objective support. We have all been challenged and held to account in a supportive environment and have had many ‘light bulb moments’ through working in this way.”

TL Primary skills journey

How do schools benefit?

Progress towards School Development Goals

TL Primary works to measure impact in the areas on which we know you are focusing: reading, writing and numeracy.

We will support you and your middle leaders to set goals, track progress and measure outcomes to demonstrate the positive impact on these areas.

Strengthening your middle leadership team, retaining your talent

Your middle leaders are supported, challenged and motivated to develop their leadership practice as a team. They also build a valuable national network of around 400 like-minded middle leaders working in primary schools in challenging contexts.

Application process and eligibility

Eligible middle leaders have accountability for literacy and/or numeracy and work in schools in challenging contexts. For full details on selecting the right middle leaders and our school eligibility criteria please visit www.teachingleaders.org.uk/primaryeligibility

To join the 2016 TL Primary programme, headteachers nominate their middle leaders, who then complete an online application. More information can be found at www.teachingleaders.org.uk/primaryapplication

Key features

Middle leaders receive the highest quality training and support including:

- Induction Weekend with high-profile speakers and facilitators to kick off their accelerated leadership journey and a five-day Residential as they progress to Year Two
- Coaching with experienced school leaders from schools in challenging contexts
- Training from highly experienced facilitators with school leadership backgrounds to help them to:
 - confidently lead teaching and learning
 - use data effectively
 - hold others to account
 - set a vision and empower their teams.

Programme cost

Schools pay £1,000 per middle leader, for the whole (two-year) programme. The remaining costs are covered by public and charity funding. There are no cover costs as all training takes place outside school hours.
