The Launch of Sheffield's Year of Reading

Sheffield's Year of Reading launches across the city on 15th January 2020 and will be a 12-month, citywide celebration of creativity and the written word.

Reading is the key that unlocks the door - it helps us feel better, discover more, and unleashes our individual creativity.

The Year of Reading aim will inspire us all about what reading can do for every one of us and the huge benefits that it brings to our everyday lives; how a story can take you to a faraway place in your head, imaginary or otherwise, or how reading a technical manual can help you build something amazing that you've never built before. How reading an auto-biography can help inspire you to change your plans or fill you with admiration, or how a Sci-Fi read can help you escape you into mysterious and fantastic worlds.

Based on four themes: 'Only Human, Rebellion', 'Exploration' and 'Creation', the year will involve anyone who wants to be a part of it across the city. Everyone's invited and everyone's welcome.

To get us into the reading spirit, the launch will be set in the Central Library and libraries around the city, with many school children taking part in workshops with authors and Illustrators. Also launching will be 'Sheffield's Favourite Reads'; a citywide conversation about the books everyone loves. There will be an exhibition in the Central Library, which will include the personal recommendations of numerous Sheffields, including some well-known faces. Each person will highlight their favourite book and what it means to them.

From launch day onwards, there is the opportunity for all individuals from across the city to share us what their favourite read is and they will be in with a chance of winning a £100 book token if they take part. It doesn't matter what kind of book it is, as long as it's someone's favourite. They will need to fill in a Year of Reading postcard in their library or tell us online before 31 March.

A shortlist will be drawn up on the 23rd April and an overall winner chosen in the autumn. More information is at: www.sheffield.gov.uk/yearofreading

As well as 'Sheffield's Favourite Reads', people from all over the city will be invited to come together to embrace a love of reading and the benefits it can provide, in libraries, pubs, schools, living rooms, museums, parks, and many other venues to share the simple joy of words. It will be literary and silly, it will be big and small, it will be on the page and in the streets. There will be lots of ways to get involved and more details will be available from

Perfect for NQTs as well as experienced teachers and any teaching staff with a responsibility for RE. This course will help you to think about how RE in your school is structured using OFSTED terminology and support schools to think about their curriculum in the light of OFSTED research. The course will also give teachers numerous practical and ready to use ideas to implement with the 4-11 age range in RE.*

Arrival	Refreshments will be available on arrival.
Session 1: Intent	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What are we teaching? Why are we teaching it?</li> <li>• How can my school plan for RE which enables pupils to think for themselves about religions and beliefs?</li> <li>• How do pupils progress through the RE curriculum you are providing</li> </ul>
Session 2: Implementation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Creative, Knowledgeable and Thoughtful RE.</li> </ul> What use can we make of creative methods and links in RE? How can all pupils improve their ability to express their own ideas about religious and spiritual questions? What do pupils need to know? What strategies will help them with this? What learning strategies enable pupils to be increasingly thoughtful about religion, belief, diversity and spirituality? How can RE contribute to pupils' ability to think about values,? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What is the cultural capital that RE could deliver?</li> </ul>
Lunch	A buffet will be provided.
Session 3: Subject Knowledge: Teaching Christianity and Islam	This session will improve teacher subject knowledge and provide samples of strategies to use with pupils across the primary school.

Fiona Moss, National RE Adviser and CEO of NATRE

Doing Data Differently – Virtual Exhibition Launch

Primary

Secondary

Special

24th March 2020 5-7pm. (Presentations will begin at 5.30 so please arrive by then.)

Cantor Building, Rm 9025, Sheffield Institute of Education, Charles Street, Sheffield Hallam University.

You are invited to the launch of a virtual exhibition of teacher designed postcards which represent aspects of literacy teaching.

This project set out to do data differently. Discussions about data in schools are usually linked to pupil attainment, data are represented using charts and graphs, and teachers rarely initiate data collection themselves or use it for their own purposes.

Places are limited so please do sign up via this link:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/94597346209>

Inspired by Dear Data, a creative postcard exchange by two information designers, this project explored how data might be used in creative, imaginative and personalised ways to explore primary teachers' everyday experiences of literacy teaching.

Seven primary teachers chose aspects of literacy teaching that were important to them, collected data on those aspects, found ways of representing those data on postcards and discussed these at half-termly meetings. Their postcards provide insights into aspects of literacy teaching that are significant to them. They also raise questions about what might happen - to teachers and to teaching - if the use of data in schools started to look and feel rather different.

At the launch you will learn about the project, see the exhibition and hear from some of the teachers involved.

STAY WELL THIS WINTER

As you will know, schools offer the perfect breeding ground for many common winter infections. These infections then spread rapidly, causing disruption to pupils, staff and parents. If antibiotics are taken inappropriately, harmful bacteria can become resistant and stop medicine working when really needed.

We all need to use antibiotics appropriately so that they continue to work properly. Schools, children and teachers are particularly important in the fight against antimicrobial resistance (AMR).

Resources for Winter Wellness

There are some simple actions that you can take to minimise disruption and help keep your pupils and staff healthy, with a range of resources available as follows.

1. Keep Hands Clean

Good hand hygiene will reduce the risk of illnesses spreading. Alcohol hand gel can be used if necessary, but should not replace washing hands if hands are visibly soiled or when there are diarrhoea and vomiting cases in the school.

You can find a child friendly song from the NHS explaining how to wash hands here

- You can download some hygiene posters here:

Catch It, Bin It, Kill It
Stop Germs Spreading - The Power Is In Your Hands

3. Keep Antibiotics Working

You may wish to share this newsletter template on antibiotic resistance throughout your school.

You can also find a range of fun activities linked to the national curriculum to educate children on microbes, infections and antibiotics on the e-Bug website

2. Stop Infection Spreading

You can find the full Public Health England guide to health protection here, with practical advice including exclusion guidelines

- If you suspect you have an outbreak (2 or more cases of the same infection or illness), you can contact your South Yorkshire Health Protection Team on 0114 321 1177 or 0114 304 9843 for out of hours advice (ask for public health on-call)

‘What is the role of governance in high quality outcomes for pupils with SEND?’

A conference to consider the priorities for Governing Bodies and Trust Boards at this pivotal time in education.

What is the role of high quality governance in ensuring that every child receives a world class education?

David Bartram OBE

As a specialist SEND consultant, David has visited and worked with over three hundred schools working collaboratively with London Challenge, the National College and the Department for Education (DfE). He was Director for SEND at the London Leadership Strategy, advisor to the Mayor of London’s education team and currently provides support to a range of teaching school alliances and local authorities on the strategic development of SEND provision.

Maria Constantinou

Maria is a Headteacher and Inclusion Leader at St. Mary’s Primary School in East Barnet, Hertfordshire. Alongside her role at St. Mary’s, she has also been a programme lead and consultant for the London Leadership Strategy, a non-profit organisation led by outstanding head teachers across London. She has worked with head teachers and senior leaders on various programmes nationally, providing practical school to school support resulting in rapid change and school improvement. Much of this work has been through programmes to further develop practice and approaches to SEND. Maria has also worked in an advisory role for the Department of Education to reform National Professional Qualifications for School Leadership and Career Progression for Teachers, and is currently a panel member supporting the development of an evidence based SEND Guidance Report on behalf of the Education Endowment Foundation.

The RSPB project upland Skies Questionnaire

Countryside have put together a short questionnaire, (<https://uplandskies.typeform.com/to/ucFi7F>) that they ask if possible for any schools or teachers to fill out. It should only take 5 minutes.

The responses will help them shape the project to be the most beneficial to schools, as well as demonstrating support for the ideas with the National Lottery Heritage Fund who we are bidding to for funding.

Responses are needed by Monday 2nd March.
